Learn What it Means to "Go Green"

You have probably heard a lot lately about renewable energy and energy efficiency. How does this apply to you, your home, or your business? Whether you are a homeowner, renter, real estate agent, architect, property owner, educator or if you are simply interested in reducing your carbon footprint, you won't want to miss this event.

Hosted by Colorado State University Extension in Jefferson County, the Clean Energy and Strategic Initiative Team (CESIT) and the Clean Energy Superclusters at Colorado State University, Mile High Newspapers, and Colorado's Touchstone Energy Cooperatives.
